LEGAL SERVICES

When people lose their driving privileges, it's a long road to regain their license. The process can take months and even years as they navigate the legal system. As a result, the number of clients we have every year varies. Drive-To-Work provides legal and education services, based upon the client's needs. Since our founding in 2007, we have received more than 15,485 inquiries.

THIS PAST YEAR

98%

of inquirers became applicants

40%

of applicants were educated, but did not need legal services

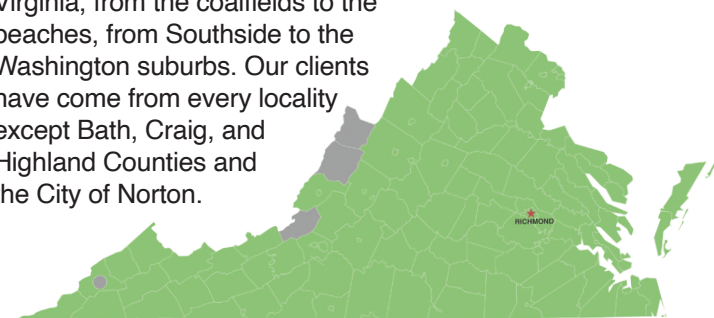

14%

of applicants needed legal services and became clients

SINCE 2007

VIRGINIA CLIENTS

We have represented clients across Virginia, from the coalfields to the beaches, from Southside to the Washington suburbs. Our clients have come from every locality except Bath, Craig, and Highland Counties and the City of Norton.

OUTSIDE OF VIRGINIA

318 clients from 37 states and Washington, D.C.

LEGISLATIVE IMPACTS

We're seeing positive changes from new state laws for our clients. The number of cases for driving on a suspended license continues to drop, thanks to eliminating the suspension period of purged cases that were 10 or more years old. The new category of restricted license for those with motor vehicle-related civil judgments allows our clients to legally drive to work and keep a job, and the number of clients with these civil judgments almost doubled.

TOP REASONS FOR SUSPENSIONS

Most clients had multiple reasons for suspensions.

■ Civil Judgment ■ Out of State Issues ■ Drug charges
■ DUIs ■ Driving on suspended license/revoked charges

Data from July 1, 2025, to June 30, 2026.

LARRY (Stafford)

Larry was all smiles after receiving his restricted license.

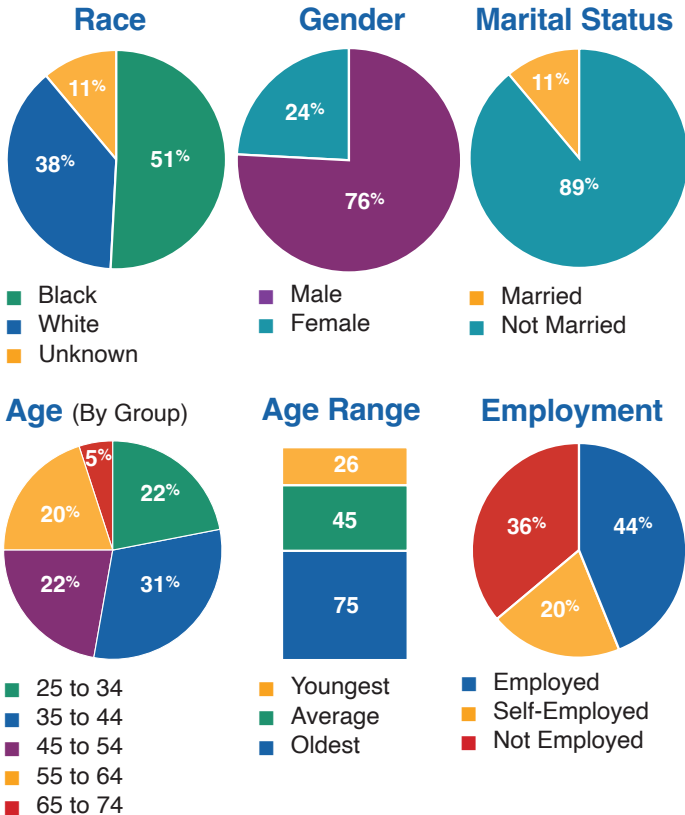

DREW (Chesapeake)

Last year, Drew received his restricted license, and this year he got his full license back.
